Hello,

Thanks for taking the time to look over my resume. With so many jobs at Apple, I'm sure I could find the perfect fit (again).

My passion is software quality, and as such, I have a keen eye for making sure that what a customer (whether internal or external) interacts with is top-notch. In my previous positions, I've interacted with customers directly, helping them troubleshoot issues with their devices. I've also helped prevent bugs from being released, while at SurveyMonkey as a Quality Assurance Engineer.

Having worked within Apple previously and SurveyMonkey, I've been exposed to many different technologies, such as Python, native iOS and Mac apps.

Please let me know if you have any other questions about my resume, or my other projects. I look forward to getting to chat with you.

Sincerely,
